INTRODUCTION

The Orr Family Papers span the period 1905-1966, and consist of the correspondence, photographs, postcards, and other personal papers of the Orr family. Ms. Katherine Stewart Orr, oldest child of Rev. and Mrs. Orr, donated the Orr Family Papers to the Tennessee State Library and Archives in 1968. The papers were stored in Avery boxes in very little order. The letters from the courtship of Rev. and Mrs. Orr were located together, which represented the only order found in the collection. The papers were in good shape with little damage. The papers are arranged into five series.

The materials in the collection measure approximately 14.5 cubic feet. Single photocopies of unpublished materials may be made for scholarly use.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Reverend Elbert Leach Orr (1879-1941) and Edna Elizabeth Stewart (1884-1966) were married June 15, 1910 in Van Buren, Arkansas. Rev. Orr was one of eleven children, and Edna Stewart was one of five children. Genealogical charts of the Orr and Stewart families are provided later in the finding aid. Rev. Orr attended Cumberland University in Lebanon, Tennessee. From 1905-1910, Rev. Orr lived in Tennessee and Mrs. Orr in Arkansas, which meant that their courtship took place via correspondence. Arkansas natives, the Rev. and Mrs. Orr made their home in Tennessee following their marriage due to Rev. Orr's work as a Presbyterian pastor. They lived in Lewisburg, Tennessee for many years until Rev. Orr's work led to their removal to Nashville, Tennessee. During World War I, Rev. Orr served as a chaplain at an army camp in Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia. Following a career in the pulpit, Rev. Orr became the synodical executive of the Presbyterian synods of Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee, in 1923, and remained so until his death in 1941. Mrs. Orr worked for the Presbyterian Church until her retirement.

Rev. and Mrs. Orr had three children: Katherine Stewart, Victoria Louise, and Charles David. Katherine was born in 1912 and worked for the Methodist Church and later as a teacher to mentally challenged children. She received her bachelor's degree from Maryville College in 1936 and a master's degree from Peabody in 1960. She never married. Victoria Louise was born in 1914 and taught elementary school later in her life. She received her bachelor's degree from Maryville College in 1938. In 1940, Louise married John Stafford, a fellow graduate of Maryville College. His career as a professor of American literature led them to live in Mississippi, Texas, California, New York, France, Iran, and Japan. Mr. and Mrs. Stafford had one daughter, Betty. Charles David was born in 1919 and worked for National Life Insurance. Charles David was also an accomplished singer and a soloist for the Cathedral Singers. Charles David attended Maryville College until 1941, when he joined the army. After serving in World War II, Charles David received his degree from Vanderbilt University in 1947. He married Betty Dunn in 1947. Charles David and Betty had two children, Thomas Stewart and David.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Orr Family Papers consist of the correspondence, postcards, photographs, and other personal papers of the Orr family. The bulk of the material falls in the 1905-1966 range, although there are a few letters to Edna Orr ranging from 1902-1905. The collection is arranged into the following five series: correspondence from the courtship of Rev. and Mrs. Orr, correspondence of Rev. and Mrs. Orr, correspondence of the Orr children, postcards and greeting cards, and personal papers.

Series 1 – Courtship correspondence

Rev. Orr met Edna Stewart in 1905 during a vacation from Cumberland University, where he was attending seminary. They began a correspondence that gradually led to romance and culminated in their marriage in 1910. The courtship correspondence of Rev. and Mrs. Orr offers a particularly fascinating glimpse into an early twentieth century relationship. The letters trace the slow realization of the deeper feelings of both parties. The correspondence is also of interest because of the wide range of topics discussed by Rev. and Mrs. Orr. One topic of particular note is the union of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. The union of the two churches was the subject of virulent opposition as well as a spate of lawsuits filed to block the union. The letters of Rev. Orr detail the difficulties he faced with the anti-union advocates in his capacity as a minister of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. Anyone interested in the history of the Cumberland Presbyterian and Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. would find the correspondence illuminating. The letters also give a glimpse into the life and problems faced by a rural preacher at the beginning of the twentieth century.

Rev. and Mrs. Orr discussed other topics besides religion. Many letters contain references to the Temperance movements in Arkansas and Tennessee. The Orrs also discussed the respective politics of their states at great length. Several letters from Rev. Orr to Mrs. Orr discuss the Edward Carmack campaign and the subsequent murder of Mr. Carmack. Rev. Orr relates the Orr family history in detail in a series of letters from 1909 and 1910. The letters have been arranged chronologically.

Series 2 – Correspondence of Rev. and Mrs. Orr

This series contains the correspondence of Rev. and Mrs. Orr with each other and with others, excluding their children. Rev. Orr served as a chaplain in World War I in Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, and his letters to Mrs. Orr describe his life there. Their letters from this period also frequently mention the influenza epidemic. Business letters of Rev. and Mrs. Orr comprise part of the series. Rev. Orr traveled frequently in the execution of his profession during the course of the marriage, and the letters between Rev. and Mrs. Orr from this time are located in this series. Letters from the siblings of Rev. Orr to both he and Edna may be found in this series. The correspondence between Mrs. Orr and her sister, Eva Cottrell, spans over 50 years. The letters in this series provide much information on the married life of Rev. and Mrs. Orr as well as their extended family.

Series 3 – Correspondence of Orr Children

The correspondence of the three children of Rev. and Mrs. Orr is located in this series. The letters have been arranged by sibling. Charles David served in World War II, and his letters home discuss the war and his contribution to the war. The letters to Charles David from various friends offer a glimpse of the affect of the war on his generation. Also of interest are the letters of Mrs. Orr and Katherine Orr to Charles David during World War II. These letters discuss how Nashville coped with the war, and give descriptions of how life changed as a result of the war.

The correspondence of Louise Orr Stafford offers insight on life in a variety of places in the 1950s and 1960s. Mrs. Stafford married in 1940, and she and her family lived in Mississippi, Texas, California, New York, France, Iran, and Japan. Mrs. Stafford wrote to her family frequently, and gave many descriptions of the various places she and her family lived. One description of note is of William Faulkner and his wife, whom she met while Mr. Stafford taught at the University of Mississippi in 1940. Mr. Stafford was a Fullbright fellow, and consequently taught in France, Iran, and Japan. Mrs. Stafford's letters from France offer an interesting picture of life in France in 1956. In 1957-1958, the Staffords taught in Iran, and these letters describe in detail the different culture the Staffords faced and their response to the culture. In 1963, the Stafford taught in Japan for a year and again Mrs. Stafford gave descriptions of life in Japan. There are also several letters from Betty, Mrs. Stafford's daughter, from her two stays in a French boarding school and from her years at Barnard College.

Series 4 – Postcards and Greeting Cards

Series four consists of postcards and greeting cards. Several postcards were copied and removed from the collection for inclusion into the Tennessee Postcard collection. These postcards included scenes from the Presbyterian Church in Farmington, Tennessee, the Fayetteville courthouse, and Hume Fogg High School in Nashville, Tennessee. The other postcards, of which there are a substantial number, were retained with the collection as they add information concerning the Orr family.

Many of the greeting cards were discarded, as they offered no information on the Orr family. Ones with a substantial greeting or letter were retained as they contained information about the Orr family. The cards are arranged by topic, such as Christmas and birthday, and by recipient.

Series 5 – Personal papers

The last series consists of personal papers of the Orr family. Items such as grade reports, bills, cancelled checks, drawings, and certificates are located in this series. Of interest are two baby books of Katherine Stewart, poetry written by the Orr family, and photographs. Also of interest are the notebooks and writings of the Orr family. Items in this series have been arranged alphabetically.

The Orr Family Papers offer a fascinating glimpse into the lives of a Presbyterian family. The collection will aid those interested in the genealogy of the Orr family, the Presbyterian church, and correspondence from periods such as World War I and World War II, as well as various other topics.
