Event Description: Tickets numbered 1- to 5,500 will be sold for $5.00 each. Each ticket corresponds to a rubber duck with the same number. Each ticket contains the purchaser's name, address, primary and alternate telephone numbers, date of birth, evidence of age, and the name of the verifying seller. On the day of the race, On the day of the race, containers containing the rubber ducks will be emptied into the Tennessee River from the Walnut Street Bridge. Each container will have two (2) individuals emptying the container. The containers are tilted at an angle so that the ducks fall freely from the container. The race course is approximately 200 yards in length. In the event there are not enough individuals to empty all of the containers at the same time, there will be three (3) Heats of the race. After each Heat, the first three (3) ducks that cross the finish line will be dropped a second time for the Final Heat. The first three (3) ducks that cross the finish line in the Heat will be the winners of the raffle. Winners do not have to be present to win and will be notified by telephone immediately following the race.
