Obituary.

Bessie, infant daughter of A. G. and W. B. Gresham, died August 24, 1892, aged 3 months.

Little Bessie, so gentle and lovely, is sadly missed from the household; and to the grief-stricken mother there could be no comfort did she not know that He that took little children in His arms and blessed them, has taken her darling home—sheltered from the storms of earth forever.

Fond parents, the Good Shepherd will take better care of the pet lamb than you could, with all your love and tenderness. You miss the prattle of the little voice and the patter of little feet, so long all day, making music to your heart, but the agonizing thought comes, that they are still in death. Yet it is only for a little while you are parted, and when you are called to enter the Happy Land you will [illegible] little tongues to melodies sweeter [illegible]
