Boaz-Cummings Family Papers and Addition,
1937-1989

COLLECTION SUMMARY

Creator:

Boaz, Broecksie Cummings, 1912-1984
Boaz, Sam E. (Samuel Elijah)

Inclusive Dates:

1932-1989

Scope & Content:

The Boaz-Cummings Family Papers and Addition span the period 1932-1989, although the majority of the collection falls between the early 1940s and the 1960s. The collection is composed of clippings, correspondence, diaries, financial records, genealogy, legal documents, photographs, and several miscellaneous items.

Correspondence comprises the largest part of the collection. The correspondence is primarily between Broecksie Cummings Boaz, her husband, Sam E. Boaz, and various family members and friends. In 1944, Sam Boaz was appointed vice consul in the Foreign Service of the United States and was sent to Birmingham, England. His wife's letters to Sam describe life in a small Tennessee town (Rutherford, Gibson County), and her preparations to join her husband in England. Sam Boaz's correspondence provides a fascinating record of life in a large English town during World War II. He describes his work, the people he met, and the effects of the ongoing war. Although his diplomatic work kept him extremely busy, Boaz found time for travel and frequent visits to the theater. Correspondence between Broecksie and her parents deal with familial concerns and her father's political campaigns and business operations.

Another large portion of the correspondence is between Broecksie and her friends. Clyde H. Sharp Sr. (1888-1965), her intellectual advisor and friend, operated the C.H. Sharp Land Company until his retirement in 1963. From 1937 to 1960, the two carried on an intelligent and witty correspondence based on shared interest in literature and world affairs.

Broecksie Boaz's lifelong friendship with Lyde McCampbell Wahl is perhaps the most complete section of the correspondence. Lyde Wahl was born in 1914 in Paris, Henry County, Tennessee. In 1935, she married Lewis Franklin Wahl (1910-2000), a practicing dentist in McKenzie, Carroll County. Broecksie Boaz and Lyde Wahl kept in touch almost daily with witty, playful correspondence. Wahl died at the age of 63 in January 1979. Broecksie Boaz corresponded in the 1940s with a friend, Alfred M. White, a native of North Carolina. White served in the United States Navy during World War II, and his letters provide a detailed account of life in the service during the war. After the correspondence inexplicably ceased in 1946, White became a professor of piano at a university in North Carolina.

The diaries (1968-1982) are not so much diaries in the traditional sense as appointment books detailing the day-to-day activities of Sam and Broecksie Boaz. She records dinner engagements, parties attended, visits by friends, and details in running a household. The photographs primarily relate to Broecksie Boaz, although there is quite a large number of her father, Broeck Cummings. Unfortunately, there are few photographs of their time spent in England.

The addition consists largely of personal and family correspondence received by Sam E. Boaz. The letters from Broecksie Cummings Boaz, his wife, detail her day-to-day life while Sam was assigned to the American Consulate in Birmingham, England, during World War II. The remainder of Boaz's incoming correspondence is from friends, except for a few letters from his father and one letter from his niece. Several letters contain newspaper clippings which have been photocopied; the originals were discarded. All items enclosed in a letter, such as copies of newspaper clippings and photographs, are located with the related letter. The correspondence includes envelopes marked with receipt and reply dates.

The remaining materials of the addition include a driver's license, a pass to the American Embassy, a Military Training Certificate, gas rations, memorandum books, notes, lists, a photograph of Sam Boaz, and a copy of the 1942 "Agreement and Working Rules between Aluminum Company of America and International Union, Aluminum Workers of America."

Administrative/Biographical History

Broecksie Cummings Boaz was born April 17, 1912, and died on her birthday in 1984. She grew up in Rutherford, Tennessee, the second child of Broeck and Chloe Alley Barton Cummings. Her only sibling was an older sister, Ione "Cap" Cummings, who married V. T. Rausin and lived in Sweetwater, Monroe County, Tennessee, until her death in 2001. In later years, Broecksie became estranged from her sister because Ione objected to their widowed father's remarriage. Throughout the collection, Broecksie Boaz referred to her sister as "Mrs. Rausin."

Her father, Broeck L. Cummings, with whom she remained very close until his death, was born March 14, 1886 in Reeves, Obion County, Tennessee. He and Chloe Alley Barton were married December 27, 1905, in Rutherford. The family remained there where Cummings engaged in farming, banking, and automobile sales. He served in both the Tennessee House of Representatives (1949-1963) and the Tennessee Senate (1951-1955). Shortly after he left the Senate, he became mayor of Rutherford (1957-1962). After his wife's death, he was remarried on January 17, 1957, to Mrs. Ivie Magee Turner, a family friend and widow. Broeck Cummings died in Rutherford on August 25, 1972, and Ivie Cummings, his widow, died in August 1989.

Broecksie Cummings Boaz attended Shorter College in Rome, Georgia, the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, and graduated in 1935 from Bethel College in McKenzie, Carroll County. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Library Science from George Peabody College in Nashville, and in 1938 became librarian at Bethel, a position she held through the 1941 school year. She became librarian in Norris, Anderson County, Tennessee, and remained there until marrying Sam E. Boaz on June 26, 1943.

Samuel Elijah Boaz, the son of John James David and Clyde McCracken Boaz was born in McKenzie, Tennessee, the youngest of eight children. He graduated from Bethel College (where he first met Broecksie Cummings) in 1939 and from the University of Tennessee College of Law in 1942. Boaz practiced law in Knoxville, and soon joined the legal department of the Aluminum Company of America at Alcoa, Blount County.

In 1944, Boaz was appointed vice consul in the Foreign Service of the United States and was sent to Birmingham, England, where he served in the American Consulate. He later was assigned to the American Embassy in London. Shortly after Boaz joined the American Consulate, Broecksie returned to Rutherford until she was able to join her husband in Birmingham, England.

Boaz resigned from the diplomatic service in 1946, and the couple returned to Tennessee where he resumed the practice of law in Nashville.

However, he became interested in Clarksville, and on September 1, 1947, Boaz joined William Daniel Jr., a prominent Clarksville lawyer. Later, Austin Peay II, the son of Governor Austin Peay, asked Boaz to join his firm. Only a few months later, Peay died and Boaz continued operating the practice on his own.

In 1958, William O. Beach joined him and they created the firm known as Boaz and Beach. This law firm operated until May 11, 1961, when Beach was elected Montgomery County judge and the partnership was dissolved. Boaz continued to practice law until he was elected in 1963 to the Tennessee House of Representatives serving Montgomery and Cheatham counties. He was reelected in 1965.

In 1966, Boaz was elected judge of the Law and Equity Court and the Criminal Court of Montgomery County, a position he held 16 years before retiring in 1982. Following his retirement, Boaz served as a judge of the Tennessee Criminal Court of Appeals.

After her move to Clarksville, Broecksie Boaz became deeply involved in many social and educational activities in the city. She worked for the Warioto Regional Library, and was assistant professor and reference librarian at Austin Peay State College from 1965 to 1968. A leader of many civic organizations, she also served as secretary of the Clarksville-Montgomery County Public Library Board. She and her husband were leaders in the creation of a new library and building in Clarksville.

Broecksie Cummings Boaz died in Clarksville on April 17, 1984, and was buried in Rutherford, Tennessee. In 1990, Judge Boaz married Margery (Dee) Wienand Bryant. The family continues to reside in Clarksville.
