INTRODUCTION

This collection is centered around Lewis Shepherd Pope of Bledsoe County, Tennessee, lawyer, Assistant U.S. Attorney, member of the Senate in the Tennessee General Assembly, Commissioner of Institutions, and three-time Candidate for Governor of Tennessee.

The materials in this collection measure 5.88 cubic feet and contain approximately 1,500 items and four volumes. There are no restrictions on the materials.

Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the Lewis Shepherd Pope may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

These papers of Lewis Shepherd Pope spanning the years 1929 to 1971 consist of accounts, correspondence, court records, diaries, election records, reports, speeches, and a few miscellaneous items. Concentrated in the years 1928-1937 these records document the public career of Lewis S. Pope, a native of Bledsoe County, Tennessee.

Accounts for the years 1925-1936 are primarily for several departments of state government including the Department of Institutions where Pope served as Commissioner from 1919 to 1928.

Correspondence for the year 1916 to 1971 is concentrated in the years 1932 to 1938. Prominent among these correspondents are: T.H. Alexander, Richard M. Atkinson, Nathan L. Bachman, C.N. Bass, George L. Berry, Gordon Browning, E.W. Carmack, Jr., Walter Chandler, Frank G. Clement, Prentice Cooper, Charles L. Cornelius, Jr., E.H. Crump, John T. Cunningham, Ross W. Ridley Mitchell, John Trotwood Moore, Lem Motlow, Adolph Ochs, Austin Peay, John K. Shields, Thomas A. Shriver, and Tom Stewart. Prominent persons mentioned in correspondence include Harry T. Burn, Joseph W. Bryns, William P. Chenault, Jere Cooper, Clarence Darrow, John W. Davis, James B. Frazier, Luke Lea, William E. Miller, George W. Norris, Watkins Overton, Malcolm R. Patterson, B. Carroll Reece, Frank J. Rice, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Andrew L. Todd.

Correspondence for the years 1916 to 1958 deals with such topics as endorsements for Pope's candidacy for U.S. District Attorney for the District of Eastern Tennessee in 1916; endorsements for Pope's appointment to the Tennessee Supreme Court in 1923, to the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) in 1933, and to the U.S. Senate in 1937; operation of the state hospitals, prisons, reform schools, and schools for the blind and deaf; the investigation of state agencies, 1937-1938; Tennessee politics and government with emphasis on the Democratic gubernatorial campaigns of 1928, 1932, and 1934 in each of which Pope was an unsuccessful candidate.

Court records for the year 1915 to 1965 include those of the chancery court in Shelby County, circuit court in Davidson County, equity court in Madison County, Tennessee Supreme Court and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Diaries kept by Lewis S. Pope span the years 1919-1927. Persons mentioned include: Sterling P. Anderson; George Armistead; Nathan Bachman; "Jack" Broadbent; Jo Byrns; Rogers Caldwell; Carrie Chapman Catt; E.W. Cocke; James W. Cox; J.D.B. DeBow; B.A. Enloe; James B. Frazier; Edgar Graham; Frank Hall; Tom Henderson; Henry H. Horton; Luke Lea; Hill McAlister; Benton McMillan; John Trotwood Moore; Robert L. Owen; Austin Peay; Eli Redelsheimer; A.H. Roberts; and Billy Sunday. Topics discussed include the operation of state institutions including mental hospitals, prisons, industrial schools and schools for the blind and deaf; pardon and parole meetings; political campaigns; gubernatorial inaugurations; legislative conferences; Scopes trial; Vanderbilt football games; Brushy Mountain Mines; woman's suffrage amendment; coal lands in Herbert Domain; death of Governor Austin Peay.

Election records include: affidavits, petitions, resolutions, returns, rules, speeches and statements for the gubernatorial primary campaigns of 1928, 1932, and 1934, and petitions for the appointment as U.S. Attorney, 1916, and those for appointment to the U.S. Senate in 1937.

Records pertaining to the special investigation of state government under Chapter 112 of the Public Acts of 1937 conducted by Lewis S. Pope include expense accounts, reports on tax collections, examinations of federal income tax returns and reports and other data gathered from several departments of state government including the prisons, mental hospitals, reformatories and highway garages.
