SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Virginia Alexander Genealogical Collection, consisting of approximately 750 items spans the period 1875-1966. The collection consists of a diary, genealogical data, military records, printed materials, and sketches. But the bulk of the collection is genealogical in nature.

The collection centers around the work of Virginia Alexander, a genealogist from Columbia, Tennessee. Included in the collection is genealogical data for the Abernathy, Alexander, Childers, Cooper, Hasty, Johnson, Lindsay, May, Murphy, McCoy, Neil, Noblett, Parker, Reese, Rooker, Whitten, Woods, Yorke, and other related families.

Other items in the collection include a catalog for the Columbia Female Institute (1857-1858), a diary (1886-1919) of Samuel Scott Lusk (1835-1912), and a sketch of the Shiloh battlefield.

The research strength of the collection lies within the genealogical material, and researchers might consult the G. B. Howard Papers for other related materials.
