INTRODUCTION

The Mitchener Family Papers (1918-1957, bulk 1942-1945) were loaned to TSLA for microfilming by Mack “Skip” Sawyer, the nephew of Hardy A. Mitchener, Jr., in May 2009. This collection is directly linked with Hardy A. Mitchener, Jr.’s P.O.W. diary available at TSLA (THS 760), which was created during his imprisonment at Stalag Luft III during World War II. The diary includes drawings, songs, poems, and notes about his experiences as a P.O.W. The Mitchener Family Papers primarily include items that pertain to his wartime experience, including his military service records, letters written to his mother during the war, and other related materials, including some photographs. The collection is less than a cubic foot in size, and there are no restrictions on its use.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The Mitchener Family Papers (1918-1957, bulk 1942-1945) were loaned to TSLA for microfilming by relatives of Hardy A. Mitchener, Jr. His diary (THS 760) recounts his experiences as a P.O.W. at Stalag Luft III during World War II. The items in the Mitchener Family Papers were provided by Skip Sawyer, whose mother, Margaret, was Hardy A. Mitchener, Jr.'s sister. After Mitchener's death in 1957 from cancer, his sister and mother were unable to locate the diary; it was likely in the possession of Mitchener's wife. The family rediscovered its existence when they saw the item digitized on TSLA's website.

The materials in this collection primarily cover Mitchener's wartime experiences, although there are a few unrelated family items from before the war. Of chief interest in the collection are Mitchener's service records as well as a number of photographs. Most of the photographs show Mitchener with his mother, Estelle, and his sister, Margaret. Several photographs picture Mitchener in uniform, including one from his time at navigation school or shortly thereafter. There are two copies of a group photo of some of the crew members of the "Jenny Lee" aircraft; these men were shot down during a bombing raid in Germany in 1944. All of the photographs in this collection have been digitized. The digital image ID number is listed after the image.

For a full account of Mitchener's experiences during World War II, refer to the finding aid for the Hardy A. Mitchener Journal, THS 760. Additional records may also be available in the acquisition file.
