INTRODUCTION

This addition to the James Winchester Papers is concerned primarily with General James Winchester (1752-1826) and his family of "Cragfont", Sumner County, Tennessee. Some of the papers are for Winchester's son, Lucilius Winchester (1803-1833), while others concern the mercantile firms operated by General Winchester and various associates at Cairo, Tennessee. These papers were given to the Tennessee Historical Society by Mr. G. William Wynne, Springfield, Massachusetts, through the agency of Mr. Walter T. Durham, Gallatin, Tennessee. Copies of eight letters by General James Winchester were purchased from the Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

The materials in this collection measure 2.52 feet. There are no restrictions on the materials.

Single photocopies of unpublished writings in the James Winchester Papers may be made for purposes of scholarly research.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

This addition to the James Winchester Papers, containing approximately 750 items and spanning the years 1784 to 1965, is concentrated in the years 1800 to 1830 and contains accounts, bank notes, bills of exchange, bills of lading, bills of sale, a clipping, correspondence, court records, estate papers, genealogical data, land records, legal documents, memoranda, military records, notes, promissory, receipt, a resolution, a speech, and a will.

Correspondence for the years 1798 to 1857 is addressed primarily to General James Winchester or his son, Lucilius Winchester. Prominent correspondents include James W. Breedlove, Charles Cassedy, William Cage, Joseph Desha, William Duane, Joseph T. Elliston, David Henley, John McKee, Thomas Molloy, John Overton, William L. Robeson, Edmund Rucker, Stokely Vinson, Sampson Williams, David Winchester, James Winchester, Marcus B. Winchester, Stephen Winchester, A.R. Wynne, and John K. Wynne. Prominent persons mentioned in the correspondence include John Quincy Adams, John Adair, Joseph Hunter Bryan, Aaron Burr, Samuel Chase, Charles Cassidy, George W. Campbell, William Henry Harrison, David H. Hill, Andrew Jackson, John C. McLemore, Winthrop Sargent, Nathaniel Taylor and James Wilkinson. Topics mentioned in the correspondence include agriculture, France, horseracing, Indian treaties, land surveying, Memphis, mineral springs, Natchez, Napoleon I, New Orleans, politics and government, postal service, Reynoldsburg, TN, River Raisin campaign, schools, slavery, South America, Spain, steam transportation, typhus, War of 1812, and yellow fever.

Accounts for the period 1806 to 1833 are primarily for General James Winchester or for his son, Lucilius Winchester. Other accounts are for General Winchester's mercantile partnership with William Cage at Cairo, Tennessee, and those of General Winchester with other mercantile houses at Cairo, including Cage and Vaughan and Roberts and Stealey.

Other financial transactions are documented by notes, bills of exchange, bills of lading and bills of sale for the period 1797 to 1860. Slaves purchased and sold for 1809 to 1860 include transactions involving Winchester and Cage, Cage and Vaughan and by Susan Winchester. Bills of lading are for cotton shipped to Breedlove, Bradford and Robeson in New Orleans by Estell and Malone from Huntsville, Alabama, in 1823; dry goods shipped to Winchester and Cage from Baltimore in 1802; and an order of brandy, china, candles, coffee, sugar and raisins shipped by Breedlove and Robeson from New Orleans to General James Winchester at Cairo in 1824.

Court records for the years 1805-1842 include bills, bonds, decrees, orders and summonses for the chancery and circuit courts in Sumner County, Tennessee; the chancery court for the District of West Tennessee; and the Court of Pleas and Quarter Session in Edgecombe County, North Carolina.

Estate papers consist of an inventory and sale for the James Winchester estate, 1826-1832, and an administrator's sale for the estate of Lucilius Winchester.

Land records for the years 1784 to 1829 include courses, deeds, entries, grants, plats, and survey for land owned by General James Winchester and members of the Winchester family in Bedford, Davidson, Franklin, Lincoln, Montgomery, Obion, Smith, Sumner, and Wilson Counties, Tennessee.

Military records are primarily for the War of 1812 and include reports for the 3rd, 24th and 39th Infantry Regiments, 1814-1815; general orders from General James Winchester, Lexington, Kentucky, in 1812; report on organization of a volunteer regiment in 1807, and an undated report on personnel and supplies.
