INTRODUCTION

This finding aid focuses on the Cromwell Tidwell Collection of the Tennessee Historical Society. The collection includes genealogical research, photographs, papers regarding the Society of the Cincinnati, and personal papers belonging to Dr. Tidwell, Senator Luke Lea, and Percy Warner.

Dr. and Mrs. Cromwell donated the Cromwell Tidwell Collection to the Tennessee Historical Society from 1965-1985. The Tennessee State Library & Archives also has a small Cromwell Tidwell collection, which contains some items not found in the Tennessee Historical Society's collection. The material was sorted on the folder level with the papers partially processed, and the processor noticed no discernible order.

The materials found in this collection measure approximately 7.25 cubic feet. Single photocopies of the materials may be made for scholarly use.

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

Dr. Oscar Cromwell Tidwell, Jr., was born June 14, 1914, in Nashville, Tennessee, and lived in Huntingdon, Tennessee, during his childhood. The son of Oscar Cromwell and Corene Mebane Tidwell, Dr. Tidwell graduated from Vanderbilt University. Dr. Cromwell then attended the University of Tennessee College of Dentistry. During World War II, Dr. Tidwell was a major in the Dental Corps of the U.S. Army in Washington, D.C. On May 1, 1948, Dr. Tidwell married Mary Louise Lea, a Nashville native and graduate of Vanderbilt University. Mrs. Tidwell was the daughter of Senator Luke Lea and Percie Warner, and was a descendant of several prominent Nashville families, such as the Leas, Warners, Lindsleys, and McGavocks. Dr. and Mrs. Tidwell had three children, Percie Corene (b. 1950), Mary Louise Lea (b. 1952), and Oscar Cromwell Tidwell, III (b. 1955).

Dr. Tidwell was very involved in numerous organizations, both locally and nationally. Local organizations of which Dr. Tidwell was a member included the Nashville Dental Society (president in 1955), the Kiwanis Club, the Chamber of Commerce, Hillwood Club, Belle Meade Country Club, Nashville Song Writers Association, the Tennessee Jazz and Blues Society, Historic Nashville, Inc., and the Tennessee Dental Association (vice president, 1960). Several national and international dentistry organizations, such as the American Dental Association, the American College of Dentists, the International College of Dentists, the Royal Society of Health of London, Pierre Fauchard Academy (an international honor dental organization), and the Federation Dentaire Internationale, of which he was the national treasurer, claimed Dr. Tidwell as a member. Dr. Tidwell's wide range of interests were further reflected by his membership in the Society of the Cincinnati, Order of Stars and Bars, National Historical Society, the National Trust for Historic Preservation, United Nations Club, East Tennessee Historical Society, Alpha Tau Omega, and Psi Omega. The Tidwell family were members of St. George Episcopal Church. Dr. Tidwell died December 1984.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The Cromwell Tidwell Collection includes genealogical research, photographs, papers regarding the Society of the Cincinnati, and personal papers belonging to Dr. Tidwell, Senator Luke Lea, and Percy Warner. The arrangement of the collection is in seven series. The series are arranged in the following order: genealogical research and information; historical sketches; publications; Society of the Cincinnati papers; development of Belle Meade papers; Lea, Overton, and Warner papers; and personal papers.

Series 1 - Genealogical Research and Information

The Cromwell Tidwell Papers contain a wealth of genealogical information on a variety of families. A large portion of the genealogical information is either of Dr. Tidwell's family or his wife's family. Several prominent Nashville families are represented in this series. These families include the Grundy, Lea, Lindsley, McGavock, Overton, and Warner families.

There are also other types of genealogical research in the series. Land grants, land warrants, deeds, and legal documents are found in this series. This information is largely from the nineteenth century. It appears that much of the information comes from both Dr. Tidwell's and his wife's family.

Series 2 - Historical Sketches

There are three main types of historical sketches in this series-biographical, historical, and locations. Several of the biographical sketches are of famous Nashvillians. These sketches include Alfred Lealand Crabb, noted author and local historian of the first half of the century; Ann and Felix Grundy; John Berrien Lindsley, president of the University of Nashville; Randall McGavock, mayor of Nashville in the 1850s; and General James White, important in Knoxville history. Also included are brief sketches of Belle Meade, the Maxwell House hotel, and the McGavock family. This series will be of use to researchers interested in Nashville history, particularly of the nineteenth century.

Series 3 - Publications

There are several publications within this series. There is a manual of the Patrons of Husbandry (or the Grange, to give the popularly known nickname of the organization) published in 1878 in Philadelphia. There are publications regarding the history of the University of the South, Traveller's Rest, and Peabody College. Numerous other newsletters and pamphlets are also located in this series.

Series 4 - Society of the Cincinnati Papers

The Society of the Cincinnati was organized by Revolutionary officers to aid members and their families and to perpetuate the legacy of the ancestors of the members. Named for a famous Roman general who retired to public life once victory was won, membership in the society is limited to hereditary descendants of officers of the Continental Army and Navy. Membership is also open to hereditary descendants of French officers of the Continental Army and Navy.

Dr. Tidwell was a member of the North Carolina Society of the Cincinnati. Included in the collection are minutes of national meetings and other publications of the society. Also included is correspondence regarding the visit of the visiting scholar of the French society.

Series 5 - Development of Belle Meade Papers

In addition to the papers regarding the development of Belle Meade, there are also seven audiotapes in the collection regarding the history and development of Belle Meade. Three tapes are of a presentation by John Ellis given on October 12, 1981. There are three interviews, of Wilhelmenia Webb, Keith Walter, and James Livingston, recorded on tape as well. These interviews were conducted in 1981. After the tapes were copied, the originals were removed due to the poor condition and off-gassing of the originals.

Series 6 - Lea, Overton, and Warner Family Papers

Dr. Tidwell was also the possessor of some of the personal papers of the Lea, Overton, and Warner families. Correspondence, largely of a business nature, of Senator Luke Lea, father of Mrs. Tidwell, is located in this series. Correspondence of Percy Warner, another ancestor of Mrs. Tidwell, is also located in this series. Also found in the series are deeds and receipts belonging to the three families. Copies of legal documents of a lengthy court case between the Leake and Overton family is of interest. While the papers do not represent a full complement of personal papers of the Lea, Overton, and Warner families, the papers do shed more light on these families. It should be noted that the Tennessee State Library & Archives also has the Luke Lea papers and three sets of papers of the Overton family within its manuscript collections.

Series 7 - Personal Papers - Cromwell Tidwell

This series contains the personal papers of Dr. and Mrs. Cromwell Tidwell. The correspondence of Dr. Tidwell is located here, as well as several letters exchanged between Andrew Jackson and William Cocke. The letter from Jackson expresses gratitude for help given during the Creek Indian War, and there are several letters from Cocke to Jackson in reply. The processor transferred a substantial number of postcards of various Tennessee scenes, such as the Great Smoky Mountains, Dayton, Memphis, and Nashville, to the Tennessee Postcard Collection. The postcards were photocopied before they were transferred, and the photocopies are located in the collection. There are also a substantial number of photographs of the families of Dr. and Mrs. Tidwell in the collection.
