INTRODUCTION

Record Group 268, Cordell Hull Birthplace Restoration Project, Tennessee Historical Commission, contains the research materials compiled and used in support of the restoration of the Cordell Hull Birthplace Museum. This interpretive research package was prepared for the Interpretive Services Division of the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation by Mr. Michael E. Birdwell and the Upper Cumberland Institute, Tennessee Technological University at Cookeville, Tennessee.

The collection was transferred in good condition to the Tennessee State Library and Archives from the offices of the Tennessee Historical Commission in the Spring of 1997. The collection measures seven cubic feet. The documents were removed from three ring binders and placed into acid free folders and boxes. No documents were discarded and the original order was maintained.

This collection consists of photocopies of original documents, manuscripts, publications, articles, and excerpts from books. Also included in this collection are photographs, negatives, one cassette tape interview with Cordell Hull's niece, a video tape copy of the newsreel of the opening meeting of the United Nations in San Francisco, and 16 reels of audio tape dubbed from cassettes by the Center for Popular Music, Middle Tennessee State University. The photographs in this collection are copies of the photographs located at the museum site. The photographs include 720 negatives and 60 contact sheets. Each sheet includes 12 photographs for a total of 720 photographs. The photographs on the contact sheet are 2 1/4 inches square. Some photographs are identified with an inventory number that corresponds to the inventory of artifacts prepared by Mancil Johnson located in Box 1, f. 7.

This collection was originally contained in 31 three ring binders. Each binder was given a volume number which is now reflected in the Container List as the Series Number. The Preface in Box 1, f. 2, contains the detailed description of how the collection was processed, a chronology of Hull's life, and an Interpretive Services Section that was prepared by the Tennessee Department of Conservation. The Table of Contents in Box 1, f.1, includes descriptions of documents. The documents beginning with Series 7, Volume 8, include a reference number found in the Table of Contents beginning on page 8. A Scope and Content was not prepared by TSLA Archives staff since this was accomplished in the Table of Contents and Preface.

Record Group 268 has been microfilmed and the original documents have been retained. There are no restrictions on the use of materials in this collection.
