INTRODUCTION

The records contained in Record Group 97, Tennessee Department of Public Health, span the period 1879-1982, although the bulk of the collection concentrates on the period 1950-1980. Included in this collection are Administration files, Board of Nursing files, Bureau of Health Resources files, Board of Basic Science Examiners files, and Reports and Minutes. The records reflect the various activities of the department and its efforts to combat disease in Tennessee.

The records contained in this group came to the Tennessee State Library and Archives through the State Records Center. The final disposition of these records was determined by the Records Disposition Authorization (RDA) process. When the records arrived at the Tennessee State Library and Archives there were approximately 175 cubic feet of materials. During processing, this was narrowed down to 140 cubic feet of material. Records removed and destroyed during processing were duplicate copies of materials and records relating to personnel. All material in Record Group 97 has been microfilmed and the originals destroyed as stated in the RDA'S relating to these records.

Within Record Group 97 there is only one restriction to access. The files for the Board of Nursing consist of nursing students records. These records are considered confidential as stated in TCA 10-7-504. Permission must be obtained from the Tennessee Department of Health to research these records.

Record Group 97 is a continuation of the records relating to the Tennessee Department of Public Health. For a look at earlier records for the department, Record Group 1, Department of Public Health should be consulted. Also of interest is Record Group 64, Public Health, Hospital Photographs.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Record Group 97, Tennessee Department of Public Health, spans the period 1879-1982, although the bulk of the collection is concentrated in the period 1950-1980. The collection consists of Administration files, Board of Nursing files, Bureau of Health resources files, Board of Basic Science Examiners files, and Reports and Minutes. The bulk of the collection contains mostly administration files and Board of Nursing Files.

This collection was processed with the records left in as original order as was possible. The only major modification made was to the correspondence in the administration files. The correspondence was found to be filed in many different ways during the time span covered. Parts of it were filed alphabetically by sender, parts were filed alphabetically by recipient, and parts were filed chronologically. This system did not make sense when the collection was put together, so a combination of alphabetical and chronological arrangement was implemented.

Of interest during the 1950s in the administration files is correspondence with other states and organizations dealing with health care delivery. Also, a major emphasis was placed on the Indigent Care Program during the 1950s, and related correspondence can be found with almost every county in the state. Also noted was a large amount of correspondence with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare concerning all aspects of the program in Tennessee. Of significance is the correspondence with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis regarding polio field trials conducted from 1953-1955.

Beginning in the 1960s, an apparent trend developed toward more formal studies of health issues. Correspondence with boards, commissions, committees, and other state departments showed a marked increase during this period. An increase in associations and conferences across the country also began to develop and the correspondence reflects this. Correspondence with the Appalachian Regional Commission increased during this period as health issues in this region of the country began to take on more significance.

During the 1970s, the trend toward the use of boards, committees, conferences, and other agencies continued to grow. During this period, communication with the Governor's office grew significantly. Correspondence with the Association of State and Territorial Health Officers was very heavy during this period. The Association met annually with all heads of Health Departments from across the country to evaluate trends in health care delivery. Additionally, committees of the Association would meet periodically to assess areas for the group to review. Drug abuse became an important topic during this period and there are items relating to that topic included. There are several files relating to the Medicaid program that give an outline of how the program evolved over a short period of time. The issue of a national health care program came up, and a file in this series has interesting information about what was being proposed. Files relating to the White House Conference on Children & Youth are also included.

Another area of interest in the collection are the Board of Nursing files. These records deal with nursing students at various schools across the state, spanning the period 1910-1957. These records are regarded as confidential by TCA 10-7-504, but with permission obtained from the Department of Health, they may be researched.

Under the Bureau of Health Resources are files relating to health care facility construction. All health care facilities since the 1940s have been required to get approval from the state before a building can be built. This is to ensure that there is an adequate supply of health care facilities available without creating a surplus of facilities. Each file contains all documents relating to the approval and construction of the facility.

The Board of Basic Science Examiners consists of applications to take the licensing exam. All health care professionals were required to take this exam from 1943-1975. In 1976, the legislature abolished this requirement.

The final series in the collection, Reports and Minutes, contains all reports found in the collection. To aid in research, all items in this category were consolidated. Included in the reports are some related to the University of Tennessee Hospital. These documents are included because in the 1960s, the University of Tennessee took over the West Tennessee Chest Disease Hospital based in Memphis.

Record Group 97, Tennessee Department of Public Health, is a very thorough collection of documents relating to the function of the department after 1950. This collection is significant in that it shows the different trends in public health that were either utilized or considered not only in Tennessee but nation-wide. For further information on the departments earlier years, see Record Group 1, Department of Public Health.
